In this vicinity the rocks are very much broken by the action of water and lay around in wild confusion.

The stream here is only fifteen feet wide from Table Rock to the rock opposite. It was here that a clergyman and lady lost their lives a few years ago by attempting to cross on some poles. The Rock here rises one hundred and thirty-two feet.

THE BASIN.

This beautiful spot is the lower extremity of the Chasm—from this it is an open country for about three miles, where the river empties into Lake Champlain, about fourteen miles south of Plattsburgh.
